Tintina Resources' Black Butte Copper Project Forges Ahead

Vancouver, BC – April 7, 2014 - Tintina Resources Inc. (“Tintina” or the “Company”) (TSX.V:“TAU”; OTCQX: “TINTF”) announces that it intends to submit an application for a Mine Operating Permit (MOP) to the Montana Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ). Tintina has elected to withdraw its request to construct an exploration decline under an amendment to its exploration license, and determined that it can gain the necessary baseline information to support a feasibility study and Operating Permit application with less invasive drilling operations during exploration. Submission of the MOP application will initiate the Environmental Impact Study (EIS) process for the entire project.

Bob Jacko, VP of Operations states, “The DEQ did a very good job developing the Environmental Assessment of the proposed exploration permit amendment. We believe this informative document will be extremely helpful when preparing for our Mine Operating Permit.”

This decision will avoid the project delay and costs associated with litigating the complaint filed in Montana district court, naming both DEQ and Tintina as defendants, challenging DEQ’s decision to allow an amendment to Tintina’s exploration license (see press release March 17, 2014). The Company, after reviewing the complaint with its litigation counsel, believes it is without merit. However, the time and resources anticipated to be required to defeat the complaint led to the decision to move ahead with the MOP.

Jerry Zieg, VP of Exploration said, “We believe in the Black Butte Project and we believe that gathering information through additional drilling rather than from an exploration decline is a better option than potentially lengthy litigation. Tintina remains committed to implementing environmental safeguards and protecting the environment while providing 200 full time jobs in Meagher County. Tintina pledges continued transparency and public involvement in our activities. We are focused and committed to protecting the surface and groundwaters of the Sheep Creek drainage basin.”
